Seek Candidates For Homecoming Queen and Court

One week remains for prospective candidates for EMC's Homecoming Queen and Court to apply, it was announced today by the college Homecoming Committee.

Applications for the queen and her court — which will be narrowed down by preliminary judging — may be picked up at the McKenny Hall information desk. The completed forms should be returned by noon, Wednesday, October 1, to room 2, McKenny Hall.

Only first semester sophomores or above are eligible to participate. In addition, a candidate must have been a student at EMC last semester and must have at least a 2.0 academic average, along with being a full-time student.

Appearance will count half at the preliminary judging (including 10 per cent each for "beauty", "figures", "poise", "personality", and "grooming.") School activities will account for 25 per cent, talent for 15 per cent and scholarship for 10 per cent, according to the committee.

Preliminary judging on these points will narrow the field of applicants down to 10 who will campaign as usual for the final honors in an election by all EMC male students.

Preliminary judges include these students: Marge Zizzi, Fred Chynchuck, Gail Ponte, Jim Dunn, Joe Rippetoe, Dominic Phelps, Ann Waldo and Charles Crickmore.

The eight will meet Thursday, October 2, to judge and announce the preliminary selections.

Prof. Edgar Waugh receives award as outstanding teacher from Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Prof. Waugh Gets Top Award

An honor award for outstanding teaching was presented to Prof. Edgar Waugh of the Political Science Department recently.

Prof. Waugh, who has written two books in the political science field, was one of twenty-five Michigan teachers and educators who received the awards from Governor G. Mennen Williams at the Michigan State Fair.

A member of the EMC faculty since 1927, Prof. Waugh formerly taught in public schools in Texas and Mississippi.

Prof. Waugh's first book, "Heaven Speaks American," was published in 1939. "Second Consul," concerned with the problems of the vice-presidency, appeared in 1956.

EMC Homecoming Parade Is October 18

The Homecoming Parade on October 18 will feature floats depicting Walt Disney characters, Mother Goose rhymes and fairy tales.

The Homecoming Committee, which earlier selected the general theme of Fantasia, has asked each organization planning on a float to select three possible themes. These themes should be listed in order of preference and submitted to Donna Clay in Goddard by Tuesday, September 30, they announced.

DEADLINE SET

The deadline for all copy for the Eastern Echo is Tuesday noon of the week of publication.

Copy should be typewritten and may be left at the McKenny Hall information desk or the Eastern Echo office on the third floor of McKenny Hall.

Intercollegiate Soccer Team Beginning Here

An intercollegiate soccer team will be the objective of a meeting Monday afternoon at 4:30 p.m. in the Brown Hall lounge.

E.M.C. student Albert Akrout, who coached soccer in England, states that both experienced and inexperienced may attend this first organizational meeting. Al points out that "The equipment, clothing and travel expenses will be paid by the college if intercollegiate competition begins."

Three One-Act Plays To Open EMC Players' 1958-59 Season

Try-outs will be held early next week for the EMC Players' first production, a bill of three one act plays.

The plays range from serious poetic drama to high-spirited farce. "Aria Da Capo," by Edna St. Vincent Millay, is concerned with the problem of greed. David Meneghel will direct this production, which is set in the framework of a harlequinade.

Thornton Wilder's "The Happy Journey from Camden to Trenton" presents a portrait of the American family. The play, which resembles Wilder's "Our Town" in style, will be directed by Ronald Muchnick.

Completing the bill is Sean O'Casey's farce, "The End of the Beginning." This farce, woven around the ill-begotten attempt of a farmer to trade duties for a day with his wife, will be under the direction of Jerry Tewmey.

Try-outs are open to all students, and those interested in reading the plays in advance may find copies available in the reserve reading room of the library.

The readings will be held in the General Lounge of McKenny Hall from 3:30 until 5:30 p.m. on Monday, September 29 and Tuesday, September 30, and from 7:00 until 10:00 p.m. on Tuesday, September 30.

An opportunity to sign up for backstage crews will also be provided at the try-outs.

Five Professors Teaching Abroad

Five faculty members are on leave from their posts at EMC in order to assume teaching positions abroad.

Prof. John A. Nist of the Department of English and Speech is currently lecturing at the University of Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Under a U. S. State Department Point Four award, Prof. James B. Chandler, also of the English and Speech Department, will teach in Southeastern Asia.

Katmandu, Nepal, was Walfred Erickson's destination. Mr. Erickson, head librarian, is training a staff and organizing a library there.

The EMC Department of Education is represented in Cambodia by Prof. Ronald J. Slay and his wife. Mrs. Slay was a supervising teacher at Roosevelt School.

EMC Enrollment Sets New Record

Nearly 5,000 on-campus students are swelling the rolls at EMC this fall, William C. Lawrence, Vice President for Student Affairs, announced this week, marking a new high in the history of the college.

There are 4,744 students now registered, and late registrations should bring the figure to 4,800, Lawrence said. In addition, approximately 1,800 students are scheduled to enroll at EMC's 24 off-campus education centers, he said.

Graduate students on campus number 571, with undergraduates totalling 4,173. Included in this figure are 407 evening class students.

The big surge in enrollment included 1,183 new students at EMC — 903 freshmen and 280 transfer students.

Eastern Michigan College maintains off-campus centers of instruction in the following southeastern Michigan cities: Adrian, Capac, Flint, Heintzen, Howell, Jackson, Jonesville, Lansing, Lapeer, Monroe, Mt. Clemens, Port Huron, Sandusky, Plymouth, Pontiac, Trenton, Milford, Saline, Jackson Prison, Sumpter, Inkster, Waterford Township, Dearborn, and Ackerman Lake.

Rynearson Assumes New Position Here

Elton Rynearson

Prof. Elton Rynearson and Prof. William Crouch have been appointed Administrative Assistants to Prof. E. W. Olds, head of the Department of Physical Education, Health, Recreation, and Athletics.

A 1918 graduate of EMC, Prof. Rynearson has served as Director of Athletics here since 1925. He requested last spring that he be relieved of the duties of that position.

In addition to handling an increased class load, Prof. Rynearson will be in charge of budgeting and general business matters for the department.

The planning and staging of athletic events will be under the direction of Prof. Crouch, a member of the staff since 1945 and an EMC alumnus.

College Hosts Ceylon Student

A world traveller who has studied in colleges in three different countries told EMC students Wednesday that "College students have an important stake in bettering international relations."

Victor Cherubim, who is affiliated with World University Service, spoke to gatherings at Starkweather Hall under auspices of the Student Religious Association.

His appearance at Eastern was unique in that EMC was selected from ten Michigan colleges to hear his talk.

"The basic fact," he told students here, "is that the mark of civilization is not the capacity to wage war, but to prevent it through international understanding."

As a representative of World University Service — an international student organization which helps needy youths all over the world — Cherubim said, "The work of WUS toward this goal has proved very successful, even in countries which oppose foreign aid."

In the United States, he has served as president of the World Friendship Club at Albion College and vice-chairman of the International Seminar. He has studied at the University of Ceylon and the University of London. Recently, he completed further studies at Albion College.

Redbirds Meet Huron Grid Men In First Conference Game, Saturday

Conference action for the Hurons will start Saturday when Coach Fred Trosko's eleven open against the Redbirds on the Illinois Normal University gridiron.

Both Illinois Normal and Eastern lost their opening encounters as ISNU was defeated by Ball State 31-14 and EMC fell before a tough Hope College squad 19-7.

Normal lost its first string halfback from last season, Carl Eichstaedt, along with co-captain John Thomas, number one quarterback and halfback Bob Jones. However, the line is expected to be very strong where coach Ed Struck lost only co-captain Jack Mitchell and guard Ray Adams. Expected to help in the line are veteran ends Mike Hundley, Martin Rademacher and Bob Zanello. Both Rademacher and Hundley received IIAC honorable mention last season and should be among the tougher ends in the conference this season. In the backfield Wayne Meece is a strong replacement at quarterback while Jim Tague, IIAC honorable mention halfback in '57, will also add a definite threat to opposing teams.

Meanwhile Trosko is still working in an attempt to find a capable backfield. He was slightly disappointed last week in the rather poor quarterbacking handled by Dave Longridge and veteran John Kubiak. Neither could lead the team on a sustained march although they outgained Hope in total rushing and passing yardage. Impressive was the running of fullback Brian Dunn and the running and pass catching of Gerald Wedge, halfback convert from quarterback.

The Eastern squad had three bad breaks last week as Hope turned an intercepted pass, a fumble, and a blocked punt into three separate T.D.'s. The Dutchmen capitalized fully on EMC mistakes. In all, it must be said that the EMC squad looked the best it has looked in an opening game in the past three years. The line was strong, although many mistakes were made. Trosko was quite pleased with the defensive work of the squad, especially after the first seven minutes of play. The Holland team had trouble moving through the center of the line and outside plays were being covered nicely, as were pass plays.

A Help or Handicap?

NCAA Revises Rules; IIAC Makes 2 Additions

by Bob Smullen

A different set of football rules will be used by the Huron grid squad Saturday against Illinois Normal than were abided by in last week's contest with Hope College.

Confused? Well, so are many others since the pigskin rules have been revised by the National Collegiate Athletic Association. The Hurons are playing by the rules of four distinct groups: (1) National Collegiate Athletic Association, NCAA; (2) National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, NAIA; (3) Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, IIAC; and (4) Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association, MIAA.

H. O. Crisler - "The point after touchdown had become football's dullest and most routine play."

Last week's encounter with the Dutchmen was governed by the unaltered rules of the MIAA, of which Hope is a member. However, this week Coach Fred Trosko's men will follow the NCAA's three major new rules and the two IIAC modifications.

The NCAA's revisions include:

1—The point after touchdown has been changed to award two points if the conversion is made by running or passing. If kicked, as before, only one point is scored. Regardless of method, the ball will be moved back from the traditional two-yard line to the three.

2—The two arm block has been dropped in favor of a one arm block.

3—A relaxed substituion rule will allow any player two entrances per period. Previously, only players who started a quarter were allowed a re-entry.

Eastern's conference, the IIAC, will follow the NCAA rules with two exceptions:

1—One player may talk to a coach in a time out.

2—A substitute may enter during any time out and on the exchange of balls.

The new NCAA rules were adopted by the Football Rules Committee, headed by Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler, University of Michigan Athletic Director, last January.

Crisler explained that the extra point scoring was changed because NCAA members complained that the extra point bid was "automatic, uninteresting and offered no variety." He added, "The point after touchdown had become football's dullest and most routine play."

Fred Trosko - "The professionals have not changed the "dull" extra point rule and yet they still draw full stadiums."

In opposition, EMC Coach Fred Trosko agreed heartily with a statement of H. V. Porter, Executive Secretary of the National

NCAA Rule Revision

Federation of High School Athletic Associations, who stated in the Detroit Free Press:

"Football is a kicking game and we should encourage that phase rather than taking steps to lessen it. The new college rule will not put the 'foot back in football'."

Trosko points out, "The professionals have not changed the 'dull' extra point rule and yet they still draw full stadiums." Continuing, the Huron coach maintained it's as important a job to teach kicking as passing.

Although not in favor of the new score rule, Trosko said he would wait to see the spectators' reactions to awarding two points for conversions scored by running or passing.

"The one arm block was accepted for two reasons," Rules Committee Chairman Crisler declared. "There was bad administration of the former two arm ruling and, secondly, the hands were frequently leaving the body."

Because Eastern will be playing according to the rules of four various groups, Coach Trosko admitted, "The frequent changes, as in blocking, will put a burden on players, officials and coaches. I wish they would stick to one set of rules."

The final amendment to the NCAA regulations concerning liberalized substitution was defended by the U. of M. athletic director in that before, only the starting eleven were eligible to re-enter in a single quarter.

These changes in the football code made Huron Coach Trosko agree completely to something he recalled reading: "In the future football coaches will have to call their opponents the night before the game to find out which rules they will be playing by."

The main problem facing Trosko is that of finding the best offensive backfield foursome and as of present only Gerald Wedge seems to be a certainity. John Malone had difficulty running from the fullback position last week, but he is expected to show much improvement against Illinois Normal. George Thompson and Sam Holloway, Trosko's other two starting halfbacks, showed little and will more than likely see only second string action this week. Jim Schultz may well be moved up to a starting halfback role in which case the backfield combo might look something like this: Halfs - Gerald Wedge and Jim Schultz; quarterback - Dave Longridge; fullback - Brian Dunn or John Malone.
